RICHEMONT CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE – Bakery Confectionery

1943

On 7 June 1943 the Swiss Bakery Confectionery Association (SBKV) decided during their meeting in Bad Ragaz to establish their own technical school with a test laboratory for training and continuing education purposes. It was then opened at the former English boarding house “Richemont” (built in 1904) at Rigistrasse 28 in Lucerne, thus leading to the name of nowadays school.

1945

Operations started in February of 1945 after various structural works. The annual programme consisted of 18 courses and the first course was held on 5 January 1945. Richemont started with 10 full-time employees incl. boarding school and laboratory. In 1945 the number of course participants was 576 in total, with an average class size of 32 students. It was also the year when the master craftsperson qualification took place for the first time.

1947

The first Richemont Newsletter was issued in June 1945. It was renamed “Trade Journal” in January 1947.

1948

A first group of German experts in the field came to visit the Richemont Craft School in 1947. 30 English specialists came in 1948 and took a two week course, which resulted in the founding of the International Richemont Club. The Swiss experts visited Great Britain, Austria, Germany, Belgium and France, who eventually all decided to join the International Richemont Club. Still today, the idea behind the Club is to exchange expertise, knowledge and to attend each other’s courses and trade fairs.

1955

10 years after the opening of the Richemont Craft School extensions and new facilities were added to the original building, including an auditorium, a meeting hall and a bigger laboratory.
